Limo Linx is a complex application designed to help you manage invoices and to schedule your fleet of town cars. Straightforward interface Even though it has a basic and unsophisticated graphic interface, the program acts like a real manager and accountant at the same time. Being an advanced piece of software, with a multitude of features included, it comes with a price. Sometimes, the application may become buggy and display errors. Integrated GPS tracking Limo Linx allows you to organize your actions, to assign drivers to cars or to distribute GPS devices to drivers when dealing with multiple cars, drivers and customers at the same time. You can view the route or the location of tracked drivers on a map, allowing you to dispatch or schedule them based on their position. If a drivers is running late, the program can be set to send alerts. And also, passengers can be notified when the driver is near, making the whole process a little more time-efficient. Wide database of customers and drivers The program will record data about the usual pickup location of a passenger, allowing you to dispatch a car to the registered address. You can set these pickup locations yourself, and also add various points of interest and landmarks. Limo Linx allows you to keep track of your fleet of cars, their upcoming maintenance or mileage. Based on this, you can be informed about which cars are available, in order to create an efficient schedule. The program allows you to create reservations, schedule cars and drivers, and dispatch them at the set time. After a trip has been completed, you can settle the reservation and start processing the invoices. Conclusion Even though it may need improvement, Limo Linx is a very useful tool to have when you need to manage a limousine business, process invoices, schedule trips and track the activity of your drivers. We've seen a lot of people using an electric toothbrush. Some of them just to brush their teeth. Others just use it as a spritzer when they're having a cup of coffee. And then there are those who have even changed their morning routine by just using it. We did a little research on the advantages of using an electric toothbrush. And here are some of them: We know that manual tooth brushing doesn't help much. It can also be tiresome especially if you have a busy schedule like today where you're suppose to be
