(AP) - An American in Dubai was arrested Sunday on suspicion of stealing property as part of what he claimed was a $3 million heist, part of which involved tricking a Saudi prince into playing a prank on him, officials said. At least $40,000 in cash was found on him at the time of his arrest, according to authorities, and the 30-year-old was also carrying five cell phones. He was taken to jail, where he had been booked and was being held pending the filing of an official criminal complaint, Dubai Police spokesman Saif Ghobash told The Associated Press. It's not clear what charges he faces or which country he's from. The alleged heist involved a Saudi prince who was tricked into believing the American was his hairdresser, then taking a photo of him with a package in one hand and the prince's head in the other. From there, the prince supposedly took the photo back to his country, where it made its way into the hands of U.S. news outlets and social media. He claimed that he'd been planning the alleged heist for a year. "This was an incident that took a long time to plan," Ghobash said. "I can imagine that it's part of a conspiracy but I can't say it was a planned act." On social media, the purported American was tagged “bellatrix prince jon jones” with #bellatrix, a reference to a popular character on the TV show “Game of Thrones.” He was also tagged with the user name “bellatrixdubs.” The heist isn’t the first time that Americans have been arrested in Dubai. Earlier this year, a Chinese woman was arrested for posting a selfie with her phone in the sand.

The Elden Ring was first released on July 12, 2019 with support for multiplayer in the PlayStation4, XboxOne, and PC.

2019 YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — The Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife plans to offer hunters 16 new firearm deer tags and offers tag prices in excess of $1,000 for those who want to avoid waiting for a drawing. Under the current deer management plan approved by the Board of Fish and Wildlife Commissioners, the department holds a drawing every three years to limit the amount of wild deer harvested. But proposals now on the table would open up the draw to many more hunters. The department began considering a switch to a lottery system earlier this year in hopes of generating more revenue for the Division of Fish and Wildlife. According to the proposal, the department says it believes switching to a lottery would increase the number of wild deer harvested, the harvest price of wild deer and the gen-user license fees. “Greater use of existing wild-woodland habitat will provide more opportunities for deer to breed, and more opportunities for hunters to harvest,” the proposal says. The department says a similar arrangement already works in Eastern Oregon, where lottery hunts occur. But anyone interested in a lottery license must apply by mail, with an application fee ranging from $25 to $50. There is an additional application fee for non-resident and non-resident non-resident non-resident license holders to process their application. For non-resident non-resident non-resident license holders, the application fee ranges from $100 to $150 with a $20 processing fee. For general wild deer or “gen-user” license applicants, the department will hold fee-free drawing for 1,250 free non-resident permits in October. The department has only finalized the application and submission format for the lottery system, it says in its proposal. It is preparing submission sheets to wildlife officials for all

PLAYSTATION 4 SHOCKS GAME REPORTERS WITH STARSHIP COMMAND: EQUIP YOUR CHARACTER WITH WEAPONS AND MAGIC, AND GO TO THE LAND BETWEEN WITH A TRULY OPEN WORLD. The Lands Between, the region between the world of the living and the dead, is a vast continent governed by the Elden Ring. The race of the living, the Elden, live within society and customs, believing in the Gods of the four nations and the Riders, and easily accept the Riders in their lives. The Elden who have been reincarnated here are reborn in a seemingly random order, yet they have the strong sense of their childhood and past lives, and are guided by the name of the vessel in which they were reborn. In the lands beyond, things are not so clear. The dead are unable to maintain life as a result of their insufficient souls, and are often unresponsive when found. They are bound as long as they are in this world, and no one knows the reason for their existence here. No one dares to look into the darkness of the lands, and only the Riders of the Elden are allowed to enter. However, there are those in the lands between who have been reincarnated as Elden and are now Riders. Not only that, but the dead have a kind of grim luck. They are constantly reincarnated in the lands between and become Riders in each lifetime; whether they do or do not successfully obtain the fragments of souls that they need is decided by their luck. They cannot do anything as long as they are in the lands between, and will fade away once they touch the world of the living. Those who deal with the dead frequently find themselves in the lands between. When those who deal with the dead find that they are missing something, and when they request aid from the Riders, that time has come. “
