Q: Delay before Redirecting/Refreshing Specific Page in Servlet I have the following code in my servlet, which redirects the user to specific page.

My question is, if the user is on the home page, it redirects him to home, but if he is in the "page.html" page, it redirects him to the "page.html" page as well. If possible, how do I delay it before he would see the redirected/refreshed page? A: You can use `HttpServletResponse.sendRedirect()` method to change the URL of the page. This method writes the response headers and send the HTTP response to the client with a new location. The redirect works by transparently sending the appropriate HTTP response to the client, rather than the HTTP response to the web browser. Q: Iphone X display issue on some apps I'm developing an app for iphone X. One of the issue in my app is that some apps can't display the picture correctly on iphone X (See attached for an example). I've tried with a lot of images (using Xcode's assets catalog). But it didn't work. What's the solution for this issue? A: The answer is using UIColor. Creating a transparent color with alpha zero will remove all effects of the graphics. CGContextTranslateCTM(context, 0, 70); CGContextScaleCTM(context, 1, -1); self.trapezoidColor.graphics.setFill(UIColor c6a93da74d
